THREE TIMES AND OVER.

Community Story of Two Lovers Who Had Difficulty In Getting Spliced.

Lowis Bright, aged 70 years, and Mrs. Harriet Mathers, aged 69 years, were married recently at Columbus. Ind., and connected with this event is a peculiar and romantic story.

Away back in the early fifties there Away back in the early lifties there lived in the western part of this county Robert Hendorson and Thornton Bright, and each reared families. Mr. Bright's son Lowis called upon Mrs. Henderson's daughter Harriet. They became engaged, but had a lovers' quarrel and separated. Soon after Lewis married a Mis-Starr and Miss Henderson a Mr. Jones. In a short time each lost their companion, and the old spark of love was re-kindled, and they found themselves once more engaged. The day was set for the marriage, and the wedding guests were invited, but again came another quarrel, which set aside the proposed marriage. Afterward Mr. Bright married a Miss Cooper's brother. Death having again robbed them of wife and husband, they again became quite friendly, and a match was almost made; but, as usual, another quarrel dispelled their union. This time Mr. Bright married a Mrs. Stett, and Mrs. Cooper married Mr. Mathias. In a few years they again found themselves made very lonely by the death of their companions. Mr. Bright began to east longing glances a his former old flame, and they were met with favor by her, the result being the patching up of their differences and their final happy union after three previous ineffectual attempts. - Cincinnat

AN AGED VEGETARIAN.

Enten Meat or Touched Wine

It will be good news to vegetarian that the French lady who is probably the oldest apostle of that dispensation in the world, Mme. Chevillard of Villegardin, in the Yonne, has just cele-brated her hundredth birthday and is in the best of health. Her only ailment is a slight deafness, and beyond this she has never been sick in the whole course of her life. Mmc. Chevillard is a stout, intelligent old lady and has won the respect of her neighbors and friends. So marked has been this respect that a fete was given in her honor at Villegardin on May 18, the anniversary of her birth. This was attended by every one in the village.

As a vegetarian Mme. Chevillard is one of the most consistent in the world. Her family did not believe in the antiment theory, but this elderly dame nev ertheless has been committed to a vege table diet all her life. Not only has she had a distaste for meat, but her positive dislike of the appearance of it has been so strong that all early attempts to induce her to taste it were fruitless .-New York World.

IRRIGATION CONGRESS.

This Important Subject Will Have a Hearing at Atlanta Next Fall. The subject of land irrigation, which as received considerable attention in the west, will be taken up in a general way by the people of the southern states at a special congress that will meet at Atlanta in October for this purpose.

The congress will be composed of five delegates at large from each of the southern states, members of state commissions of irrigation and one delegate each from regularly organized irriga-tion, agricultural and horticultural so-cieties, societies of engineers, state departments of agriculture, agricultural colleges and commercial bodies in the southern states. Besides these duly accredited dele-gates to the farmers' national congress and road parliament, members of the national board of irrigation, members of congress, governors of states, the sec-retaries of agriculture and of the interior will be admitted as honorary mem-bers, and many fereign officials and other persons interested in the objects of the congress will be invited to attend its proceedings.

The purpose of the congress is to dis-cuss methods of irrigation and the effect ern crops. It is claimed that there are large areas of productive land now ly-ing in almost useless condition on ac-count of the dryness of the soil, which in other respects is capable of fertility. In the same regions are streams, swamps and artesian wells that might be made to supply the defect. How this can best be accomplished and with what probable results will be considered by the irrigation congress.-St. Louis Globe-Democrat

There Will Be a Change

It is the opinion of the great Parisian dressmakers that the spring of 1896 will be notable in the annuls of fashion or account of the revival, with but slight modifications, of the styles of gowns which were in vogue when Louis XVI was king of France, over a century ago. While these makers of the mode have not openly announced what they will decree for the year hence, yet most of them are making plans in accordance with this idea. The real leaders of the world's modes are of course the famous dressmakers of Paris, though they beguile their rich or royal customers into thinking that the dressmaker has little else to do than to execute or amplify the suggestions of his patrons, while exactly the reverse is true. Changes in style are always ac-complished by degrees. Every one knows how practically impossible it would be to compel a sudden and radical change in costume, such as the abrupt transition from the present mode the ancient Greeks, but even this would be possible in time if the autocrats so willed and threw their weighty influence in favor of the revolution

A Trilby Club.

There has recently been inaugurated a Trilby club in Arlington, N. J., the result of a dream of one of the most charming of the young women of that

The qualification for membership in this club is a left foot; the credentials, a picture of it. At present the club has a score of members. Each has given the picture of her left foot to the club, and these form the art collection.

By unanimous consent the projector of the club, so levely was her Trilby, was made president. A fear of publicity keeps this club a secret organization, but to give it an air of dignity one mar ried woman has been made a member. These pictures are all taken by the young ladies and developed by one of their number. Some of the photographs have been seen. One especially is a beauty of perfect outline and has the widely sen arated toes over which Little Bille raved, and which are small, slender and graceful. Such another Trilby, the girls proudly declare, it would be hard to find, and none there has been to dispute this .- New York Herald.
